

| Short Description | LCVP Development Group Meeting 6, November 5 th 2024. |

| Agenda Item | Notes |
| Updates | Two new members welcomed to the group. The Executive provided a brief overview of next meetings before consultation. |
| Structure and learning outcomes | The Development Group reviewed two draft strands for each of the two modules and a new unifying strand for developing a personal profile. The new structure was seen as beneficial and clear and could allow for more integration of the learning, with some concerns on how the learning in the unifying strand could be better integrated within the modules. Feedback included a strong alignment with the aims and rationale, soft and hard skills could be related more to work and job applications, the community strand content could be more focussed on appreciating the community and the student role in it, and some terms and phrases need to be replaced or removed. |
| Nature of the Additional Assessment Component | Discussions included the reusability of the product of the AAC for the student as they progress through and beyond senior cycle could be hugely beneficial and transformative; the five strands could be five assessment items, perhaps spread over two years; there could be a changing aspect each year; and a multi-modal approach would benefit students. |
